

Some More European and UK Wholesalers

Many of the products you buy from wholesalers like this, do already have a brand on them and for some, you would need to use the existing UPC.

However, a lot of these wholesalers have very small min order quantities. If you find a product that doesn't already exist on Amazon, you can buy a tiny quantity and create a listing. If it goes well, you can buy more. You don't always need to create your own brand - a sale is a sale, regardless of whether it's your own brand or not.

Many of the brands supplied by these wholesalers are generic and 'unknown' brands. Remember that making money on Amazon is all about making sales. It is not always about creating your own brands and worrying about the future of the item you want to sell and whether or not you will be able to put your own brand on it.

Ultimately, what we all want is a few good selling listings of our own brand, but it takes time to get to that stage. In the meantime, it's all about making sales and making money!
